tiresias

Purpose:

tiresias is an interdisciplinary peer-reviewed journal that explores critical and theoretical forums relating to gender and sexuality. Particularly, tiresias is interested in the ways these topics intersect with race, class, and history. We welcome academically rigorous undergraduate-level research that speaks to and challenges issues of past, present, and future directions of gender and sexuality.

Types of Submissions:

We accept the following: original research articles, analytical essays, and book reviews. Papers are welcome from all departments (such as, but not limited to): English, Comparative Literature, Classics, Women’s and Gender Studies, Anthropology, History, Linguistics, Psychology, Political Science and Philosophy. We especially encourage submissions from all fields of natural science as well.

Format:

Submissions must follow the author-date system of documentation, with limited footnotes, as outlined in The Chicago Manual of Style (15th ed.). Articles should not exceed a maximum length of 5,000 words, including references and footnotes. An abstract of no more than 250 words also must accompany your submission. Authors should include the following information on a separate title page: name, email address, university, major and year of graduation.

Deadline:

November 9, 2012

Email submissions to: RUTPjournal@gmail.com with the subject title as “Submission-Spring 2013-[your name].”